Belvidere, Ill., Dec. 3, 1891.

NORMAN LIGHTY, Des Moines, Iowa.
DEAR SIR:—Having suffered a great deal from headache for years and being unable to get relief until it would wear away of itself. I saw Krause's Headache Capsules advertised, I tried them and now am never without them, finding it the only remedy that will give me relief. When I now find a headache coming on me I take a capsule and find the relief instantaneous.

Respectfully yours,
G. H. WRIGHT,
Boston, Mass.

People from the Lake who witnessed the burning of the Bellevue, say that it was the grandest sight they ever witnessed. The Lake was very calm, and the atmosphere was barely stirring. THE DISTRICT FAIR.

Everybody Should Stand to Make it a Success.

The holding of a Fair this Fall is now an assured thing. The canvassing committee have met with unexpected success, and with the $600 subscribed by the County, will have nearly $1,500 to go on with the work.

The APPEAL through a misunderstanding was mistaken in stating that purses would be hung up for district horses only; though some races will be of that description. The Fair will be on the same liberal scale as has characterized former Fairs in the District, and the management guarantee fair treatment to all.

If the citizens manifest any inclination to have a pavilion exhibit, the pavilion will be put in order for the purpose. If sufficient space should be taken up by exhibitors, to warrant a good display, well and good, and there is no reason why the citizens of Ormsby and other counties in the District, cannot see to it that there is a first class display of agricultural and mechanical products.

It is quite certain that the ladies will do their share towards making it a success, and with their assistance, the District can easily make a very creditable display.

The APPEAL hopes to see every man, woman and child in the District take a lively interest in our next annual Fair.

Pillows.

Dan Daly, the puglist who is after a fight with Jim Fell, arrived in Carson yesterday, and tells a funny story of a go he had in Kansas City with John P. Clow of Denver. They were matched to a finish with skin gloves, though the lightest allowed by law were 6 ounces.

A new policeman on the force was sent to watch the setto, which took place with closed doors. When the door was broken in at the end of the third round and the principles arrested, the referee told the new cop that the gloves weighed six ounces and not to allow the arrest; but the arrest was made all the same, and the next morning in Court the Judge, (who had been a spectator) asked the Policeman what size gloves the men used.

"I don't know, your Honor, but I think the gloves weighed about six pounds."

"The prisoners are discharged," said the Judge, "there is no law against fighting with six pound gloves."

A Lively Publication.

There are some very readable article in the last issue of the Wave. Jeremiah Lynch is out with an article attacking vigorously the pretensions of local journalists. He pays his respect to McEwen, Tom Williams and Irish, and winds up by asserting that journalists are no better morally than lawyers. Bob Davis describes his own experiences as an Examiner reporter, and John Bonner offers his excellency Yang Yue some advice about his Chinese subjects. Besides, there is all the gossip of society and politics; a sad outburst about the decline of the back-entrance girl; paragraphs about the Democratic Committee meeting; some pointed remarks about Senator "Billy" Williams, who will not stay dead. One excellent story tells of a great speech which dispersed an army of lynchers. The inwardness of the anti-railroad fight in Oakland is firm, and many other paragraphs of positive interest besides.

An Ordinary Cigarette.

Last evening a well known young man of Carson took his best girl out for a walk. Every one noticed the beautiful smile that adorned the young lady's countenance as her companion whispered sweet words in her ear. The man in the moon looked down approvingly and winked the other eye. Cupid hovered over them ready to let fly his arrow at the proper time. A certain animal that is noted for an odor that resembles neither cologne nor the garden of roses, began to make his presence known in the vicinity of the happy couple in no gentle manner. About the time the animal was getting in his deadly work, the young man lighted a cigarette and had hardly taken half a dozen puffs when the maiden exclaimed, "why Harry what a horrid smell that cigarette has."

The Curtis Trial.

San Francisco, Aug. 23.—In the trial of actor M. B. Curtis for the murder of Policeman Grant, Joseph Holtz, Treasurer of the Tivoli Theatre, identified the pistol found near Grant's body as the one which was brought to him a few days before Grant's death by a theatre employe, who saw it drop out of Curtis's pocket as he lay asleep on a lounge in the theatre office.

W. H. Leaby, a theatre employe, testified that he picked up the pistol which had dropped out of Curtis's pocket and gave it to Holtz. He identified the pistol found near Grant as the one he picked up.

This evidence is regarded as important, as the strong point of Curtis's defense was that he never owned a black-handled pistol like the one found.

Fish Matters.

Through the instrumentality of our very efficient Fish Commissioner, Geo. T. Mills, the long desired change in regard to the dumping of sawdust and shavings in the Truckee river from the California side has been reached. Hereafter the Truckee Lumber Company, the largest on the river, will burn all their sawdust and shavings, and the lesser mills will be required to conform to the same ruling, made by the California Fish Commission. In writing to Commissioner Mills the California people say that before the end of the season they hope to have the river entirely free of sawdust. Mr. Mills is entitled to great credit for the very able manner in which he has handled the vexed subject.—Tribune.
